| The Privacy Act of 1974  | Citation  5 U.S.C. § 552a; 45 C.F.R. Part 5b; OMB Circular No. A-108 (1975) | General Description The Privacy Act of 1974 is a withholding statute. | Any Executive department, military department, Government corporation, Government controlled corporation, or other establishment in the executive branch of the [federal] Government (including the Executive Office of the President), or                | The Privacy Act applies when the federal government maintains a system of records by which information about individuals is retrieved by use of the individuals' personal identifiers (names, social security numbers, or any other codes or identifiers that are assigned to the individual). A "record" for purposes of the Privacy Act means any item, collection, or grouping of information about an individual that is maintained by the agency | The Privacy Act of 1974 and its implementing regulations:  1) Prohibits the disclosure of personally identifiable information maintained by agencies is a system of records without the consent of the subject individual, subject to twelve codified exceptions  (2) Grants individuals increased rights of access to agency records maintained on themselves.  (3) Grant individuals the right to seek amendment of agency records maintained on themselves upon a showing that the records are not accurate, relevant, timely, or complete.  (4) Establishes a code of "fair information practices" which requires agencies to comply with statutory norms for collection, maintenance, and dissemination of records.  |
| The Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) 5 U.S.C. § 552 (2006), amended by OPEN Government Act of 2007, Pub. L. No. 110-175, 121Stat. 2524. | 5 U.S.C. § 552; 45C.F.R. Part 5   | The Freedom of Information Act is a disclosure statute.               | any independent regulatory agency  Agencies within the Executive Branch of the federal government, including independent regulatory agencies and some components within the Executive Office of the President, are subject to the provisions of the FOIA. | and that contains the individual's name or other personal identifier.  Records that are (1) either created or obtained by an agency, and (2) under agency control at the time of the FOIA request.  | When an agency receives a proper FOIA request for records it must make the records "promptly available" unless the records or portions of the records are exempt from mandatory disclosure under subsection (b), or excluded under subsection (c).  Subsection (b) of the FOIA establishes nine exemptions from disclosure, which were created by Congress to permit agencies to protect from disclosure certain specific types of information. Exemption 6 of subsection (b) allows for the withholding of personnel, medical, or similar files, the release of which would constitute a clearly unwarranted invasion of personal privacy. Exemption 7(C) provides protection for law enforcement information, the disclosure of which could reasonably be expected to constitute an unwarranted invasion of personal privacy.  Subsection (c) of the FOIA establishes three special categories of law enforcement-related records that are entirely excluded from the coverage of the FOIA in order to |

| Health InsurancePortability andAccountability Act(HIPAA), Privacy Rule(2000) | See generally, Pub. L. No. 104-191 (42 U.S.C. § 1320d-2 note)  45 C.F.R. Part 160 and Subparts A and E of Part 164 See generally http://www.hhs.gov/ ocr/privacy/index.ht ml | Establishes national standards regarding health information privacy  | Covered health entities; indirectly, business associates (who will become directly covered in 2010 pursuant to the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009) | Protected health information(certain individuallyidentifiable healthinformation)       | Provides a federal floor of health information privacy protection; more protective state laws remain in force. The Rule assures certain individual rights in health information, imposes restrictions on uses and disclosures of protected health information, and provides for civil and criminal penalties for violations.   |
| Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) Security Rule                    | 42 U.S.C. § 1320d-2(d)  45 C.F.R. Part 160 and Subparts A and C of Part 164  See Generally http://www.cms.hhs.gov/SecurityStand ard/Downloads/securityfinalrule.pdf          | Establishes national required and addressable security standards.  | Covered health entities; indirectly business associates (who will become directly covered in 2010 pursuant to the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009)  | Electronic protected health information (certain electronic individually identifiable information) | Works in tandem with HIPAA Privacy Rule and lays out three types of security safeguards required for compliance: administrative, physical, and technical.  |
| Health BreachNotification Rule(Federal TradeCommission Rule)                     | 16 C.F.R. Part 318  http://www.ftc.gov/o s/2009/04/R911002 healthbreach.pdf  | This proposed rule requires vendors of personal health records (PHRs) and related entities to notify individuals when their individually identifiable health information is breached | Vendors of PHRs,their relatedentities, and andother third partyservice providerswho do not qualifyas entities coveredunder HIPAA       | Unsecured identifiable health information of an individual in a personal health record             | These proposed rule requires vendors of personal health records (PHRs) and related entities to provide notice to consumers following a security breach. Stipulates that if a service provider of a PHR vendor experiences a breach, it must notify the PHR vendor. The PHR vendor, in turn, must notify consumers of the breach. The proposed rule contains additional requirements governing the standard for what triggers the notice, as well as the timing, method, and content of notice. |
